Course description and goals:

The purpose of this course is to expose students to experiential based social studies education. My hope is that you will leave this class with a broadened definition of social studies education. The challenge will be to move beyond textbook driven curriculum and begin to develop a responsive approach to teaching social studies. We will examine the concept of the classroom being a microcosm of society and how this benefits social studies education. You will also be exposed to children's literature that helps build schema for social studies learning and activities that help build classroom community. We will also study and discuss how the culture of the classroom dramatically affects classroom behavior. Reading strategies that are essential in content area reading along with the tools that are helpful to students as they navigate through nonfiction and social studies fictional text will be discussed at length.

PLEASE review all work prior to submission for mechanical and grammatical errors. Multiple errors will result in the loss of a letter grade for that assignment! All assignments must be completed/submitted in order to pass the course!

Attendance, Readings & Homework Sheets (25 points): All course readings/homework sheets must be done prior to each class meeting. Information related to the readings will be addressed through homework sheets and class activities. I recommend that you document your thoughts and understandings of the textbook readings by taking notes. The point sheet/schedule and homework sheets will be used to document attendance and monitor student participation and learning on a weekly basis. Failure to complete homework sheets will result in a loss of points!

Journal Article Review/ESOL Response Paper (10 points):

Olmedo, I. M. (1993). Junior Historians: Doing Oral History with ESL and Bilingual Students. TESOL Journal. (<http://www.ncela.gwu.edu/pubs/tesol/tesoljournal/juniorhi.htm>)

This review is not a summary of the required reading; instead, it is a response to the reading. First, you should react to the article. This requires you to agree or disagree, at least in part, to the author's main points. You should base this reaction on your personal and practical experiences as well as, adherence to and valuing of the tenets of the Code of Ethics and Principles of Professional Conduct of the Education Profession in Florida. Second, you should discuss the relevance of the reading to social studies instruction. Finally, you should discuss how the reading will affect your practice as a classroom teacher, specifically in regards to approaches taken with ESOL students while naturally considering your ethical responsibility to educate all of your students. ESOL standards: 2, 7 Livetest KEY Assignment (see rubric below)

	DEMONSTRATED	NOT DEMONSTRATED

History Through a Child's Eyes Interview (10 points): Effective instruction builds on a student's prior knowledge and experience. Using the provided Interview Form, interview a child from the age of 7-11 (approximately 1st-5th grade) to glean insight into what they know about important historical periods/events. Take detailed notes during your interview experience. Word process your notes in order to complete the provided form and bring in the sample photos/copies used in the interview process. Be ready to share your findings with a classmate on the due date.

Artifact “Bag” (5 points): Focusing on the central social studies theme or topic chosen for your 5 day Integrated Thematic Unit Plan, locate five or more artifacts, images, video clips, photographs, pictures of items, etc. (2 tangible artifacts must be included in the five; a description of the item must be written on the back of each artifact). Upload your artifacts to your group's WIKI, being sure to identify your artifacts with a personal name header! For in class purposes, bring a small bag with the photos, images, actual artifacts etc. inside, to share with a small group. Be ready to explain how these artifacts could be used to introduce/teach necessary concepts to students and ideas for how you would use them in your unit plan to entice, motivate, and educate your students!

Internet Search/Literature List (10 points): Once you have been assigned a topic of study for your Integrated Thematic Unit, search the internet for sites (minimum of 5) that will enhance your knowledge of the subject area and/or be of use to your future students. Compile the sites on one typed page. Include the name of site, website address and a brief summary of what the site provided. In addition, compile a list of 5 (minimum) books (this could include the use of other multiple media materials like DVD's) that could be used in your unit to provide knowledge to you and your students in this content area: include the title, the author, and a brief summary of the book. Be sure to choose books from a variety of genre which should include but not be limited to historical fiction, nonfiction, and biography. Add this book list to the internet list above and submit in hard copy to the instructor on the due date. In addition, upload links to internet sites and your booklist to the appropriate page in your group Unit Plan WIKI. (Further explanation will take place in class.)

Integrated Thematic Unit Plan Group Project (Final) (25 points): After an in class study of the various standards and themes needing to be taught to Elementary age students in the area of social studies, students will group together in cooperative grade level groups (4-5 members), to create an integrated thematic unit. The “group” part of this project is meant to simulate that of team planning sessions that you will become a part of once you enter the field of education. It is my expectation that all members of the group pull their own weight in order to foster the positive work environment needed on grade level teams! Individuals not doing so, will receive less credit than others who worked cooperatively and equitably with the group to produce an outstanding final product that could be used by many, once in the education field. Each group will be required to create a WIKI (collaborative website) in order to facilitate information exchange by using the discussion board and ultimately, a 5 day cohesive unit plan. The one week (5 day) integrated social studies unit should include but not be limited to: use of lesson plan template provided, portfolio/class book type sample (samples will be shared in class), read alouds, shared reading (K-2), BDA reading strategies, integrated language arts related activities- reading, writing, listening, speaking, visually representing, music/movement/art, cooperative groups, independent work, partner/buddy reading, peer response/editing, literature circles/book clubs, group investigations, technology, centers, etc. Please note, a minimum of one teaching idea must be included from your supplemental text. Print one hard copy of your 5 day plan (with necessary samples) and upload a link to the teachsocialstudies.wikispaces.com class (Spring 2009 Unit Plans page) WIKI as well as to the appropriate page in your group Unit Plan WIKI. You will present (5 points) your unit plan using your WIKI site, sample artifacts, books, portfolio/class book sample, etc. (Further explanation will take place in class.)

Evaluation and Grading System

Points will be assigned as outlined in the Course Requirements section. My goal is for everyone in this class to perform at outstanding levels and earn an A. If you come to class, do the work, participate in class activities, and hold high standards for yourself and the profession this should not be a problem.

The final grade for the course is based on the following criteria:

90%-100% = A (Extraordinary work, one or no absences, extra effort on all assignments, outstanding professionalism)

80%-89% = B (Very good work, more than one absence or numerous tardies, some extra effort, consistent professionalism)

70%-79% = C (Average work, absences, average effort, average professionalism)

Because I believe children deserve better than below average teachers, no grades of D will be assigned.

BELOW 70% = F

Please note:

- Format: Unless otherwise noted, all written assignments must be word-processed and professionally presented.
- Quality: Work is expected to be thoughtful, reflective and of high quality in terms of both content and presentation. Work that does not meet the established criteria will be noted and will not receive full credit. This may result in a lowered grade.
- Timeliness: All assignments are expected to be handed in on time, in your folder on the day on which the assignment is due. Assignments turned in later than this, but prior to the next weekly class period, will lose points. Assignments that are turned in later than one week after the due date will not be accepted, and will receive a grade of zero points.
- Completion of Assignments: Students must complete all of the required assignments in order to receive a passing grade in the course.
- Policy Regarding Attendance, Participation, and Administrative Requirements: You are enrolled in the Elementary Education program because you are preparing for the profession of teaching children. You will touch the lives of many children throughout your career. The transition from being a student to becoming a teacher begins by approaching courses in a professional and responsible manner. Pre-service teachers do not look at teacher education courses with the purpose of "getting a good grade" or "getting by." It is expected that each of you will demonstrate interest, enthusiasm, and professionalism in all your courses. Two key components of professionalism are attendance and participation. You will be assessed with regard to these. There are no excused absences. You may miss one class for any reason. Each absence beyond this one will result in a loss of points. Chronically arriving late and/or leaving prior to the end of the class will reflect as an absence. Students who disrupt the class process by repeatedly leaving and returning to class, chatting with neighbors, doing work not related to the class or sleeping may also have the final letter grade reduced. I believe that you are dedicated to becoming the best teacher possible and to that end, this component will not become an issue for you.
- According to UCF Golden Rule guidelines, academic dishonesty/cheating, which includes plagiarism, is a violation of student academic behavior standards and is subject to academic and/or disciplinary action. Such behavior is also a violation of the College of Education's Professional Code of Conduct.
- Make up Exam Policy: Students should contact their professor as soon as possible if circumstances beyond their control mandate that they are not available for exams. Students and professors will work together to find a time and arrangements that are agreeable to both parties.
- Students with Disabilities: The University of Central Florida is committed to providing reasonable accommodations or all persons with disabilities. Students with disabilities who need accommodations in this course must contact the professor at the beginning of the semester to discuss needed accommodations. No accommodations will be provided until the student has met with the professor to request accommodations. Student who need accommodations must be registered with Student Disability Services, Student Resources Center Room 132, phone 407-823-2371, TTY/TDD only phone 407-823-2116, before requesting accommodations from the professor.
